

Auto Dealership Utilizes Fox Industries Inc. Products to Rehabilitate Their Service Bay

After years of abuse, the owners of this auto dealership decided it was time to repair their service bay. Concrete repairs on the deck were easily accomplished using FX-262 Repair Mortar. The concrete surface was shotblasted to prepare the surface for coating. A non-skid membrane was applied and FX-455 Water Based Epoxy Coating in Gray was utilized as a top coat. The FX-455 was chosen for its' excellent appearance as well as its' chemical resistant properties. The FX-455 Coating is highly resistant to road salts that are introduced to the surface from the bottom of cars that are pulled in for repairs.
